Editorial Comment

IF WE WERE ABLE TO DO IT

If we were in a position to do so, we would have college and university students read and sign the following, simple statement before they enrolled:

"This school is a combination of 'it is' and 'it isn't.'"

"It is a center for learning within which is filed a vast amount of printed knowledge that goes back to the beginning of time; it is a storehouse of living, human knowledge that is broad, varied, and personal - knowledge that those who have it want to share.

"It is not a staging area for revolution, rebellion, and insurrection, nor the sounding board for political activists.

"You, as a student, have full access to the total knowledge available in this school. It is there for your benefit.

"We expect you to use this stored knowledge to create knowledge within yourself - knowledge that, hopefully, you will, in your lifetime, expand upon to continue the evolution of knowledge.

"In this process of learning you will be expected to study, to discuss, to debate, to challenge every aspect of America - Its institutions, its religions, its political organization, its human relationships. You will be expected to challenge the total concept of democracy itself, along with the concepts of every other political and social system in the world.

"But on this campus, the challenge will be made in a scholarly, intellectual manner. The challenge will be of the mind, not of the strong arm and the hard fist.

"If you see fit to use physical force against this school, or if you see fit to physically disrupt the educational program of this school, you can expect that such police force as necessary will be used against you, that you will be expelled, and that you will be the subject of appropriate legal action.

"That's the way it is and the way it will be on this campus. If you do not choose to accept policy as expressed in this statement, then go elsewhere."

And as an editorial afterthought - the above also applies to faculty members and administrators.

Putting Cotton Research Findings To Work Is Object Of New Program

SHAFTER — A five-point program for putting research findings in cotton to more effective use on the farm was announced at the 1970 Cotton Production Field day attended by more than 300 growers at the U.S. Cotton Research station near Shafter.

John H. Turner, station director, said the first annual cotton clinic will be held early next Spring to report latest research results just prior to the new growing season. The event will be sponsored by the newly formed California Cotton Research council.

In addition, University of California farm advisors will cooperate in a series of four to six small field days each year to focus attention on specific cotton production topics and problems. The first of these, in December, will demonstrate for growers the care taken to make high quality planting seed available for San Joaquin valley use.

A third project will be put into general circulation findings published by University and USDA personnel which now are available only in technical journals.

Turner said another effort to improve communications in research will be to bring together the University's extension team members four times a year instead of once, to discuss means of putting project results into more meaningful use in the field.

Finally, Turner said consideration is being given to setting up a demonstration farm in the heavy verticillium-wilt area, to put all wilt control knowledge to work at one location.

The recent field day included field inspection of research plots set up to investigate various aspects of narrow row cotton culture. The Shafter specialists agreed close-row planting holds promise of greater production of cotton at lower costs. However, they added, growing the crop under narrow row conditions is not easy, and progress made during this season's testing cannot be ascertained until the plots are harvested and yield data is analyzed.

Considerable progress was reported in biological control of major insect pests in cotton, with a view to reducing reliance upon chemical materials. University researchers are successfully breeding types of

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE COURSE OFFERED

PORTERVILLE — An eight-hour course in parliamentary procedure will be offered as part of Porterville College's adult education program, beginning Tuesday, October 6.

The course will be taught by Rodney Homer, a Porterville High School instructor who has had considerable experience in the field as a coach for Future Farmer of America parliamentary procedure teams.

The instruction will be designed to assist persons who hold offices in clubs and organizations, and who are interested in conducting meetings according to established rules of order.

The class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, October 6; Thursday, October 8; Tuesday, October 13 and Thursday, October 15. The meetings will be held in Room B-3 on the college campus. Registration for the non-credit course may be made at the college community services office, or at the first meeting of the class.

predators which can help control lygus bug, bollworm and pink bollworm more reliably than species native to a particular district.

Dr. H.B. Cooper, USDA cotton breeder at Shafter, reported on new Acala strains, including S-913 which has shown an eight to nine per cent yield increase over the present SJ-1 and Acala 4-42 in spinning tests to see if it measures up in all quality aspects. If so, reproduction of seed will begin next year to introduce the strain into heavy wilt areas of the valley by 1973.

Cooper pointed out since S-913 is closely related to SJ-1, planting both seeds in the valley would not mean a departure from the present one-variety program.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

VICTOR E. McADAM, Sonoma, on decline in U.S. military power — "If we continue to day dream we're going to be in one whale of a mess (so) let's get all our governing bodies together and quickly build a stronger United States before it is too late."

MRS. ARTHUR DOUGLAS, S.F. — "The liberal relief programs have not ended poverty; rather, they... forsake the wage earner and provide illusory comforts of guardianship instead of encouraging individual initiative."

BRYAN HARDWICK, Palos Verdes Estates, on facing aggressive violence — "What is the root cause of a fire in a dry wheat field set by a man with a torch... the dry field, or the man? In attempting to preserve a society of order, is it a bad policy to restrain the man with the torch?"

JOHN L. MOTHERSHEAD, Stanford — "Faculty members invited to student house meals used to work hard to create even the most trivial conversations; today they work hard to get a bite to eat between serious questions on topics in which they are interested."

SHIRLEY TOW STAR IN BARN PRODUCTION

PORTERVILLE — Shirley Tow, of Visalia, will star in the Barn theater production, "Goodbye My Fancy" that will play the Barn the evenings of October 9 and 10, with a matinee on October 11.

Elizabeth Dobson, director, states that the show is a reading production, the first ever presented on the Barn stage.

"When some groups do a reading, they just sit around a table," Mrs. Dobson says. "This play will not be like that. We will have sets, and props, and action, just as in a regular play, however, some parts will be read."

Others in the cast are: Kit Tewksbury, Mac Williams, Mrs.

Smokey Says:

WHATEVER PORTERVILLE College Coach Sim Iness was saying, his boys on the field Saturday night must have been listening, as they out-played the visiting Barstow Vikings 23-6 in the first college home game in new Jamison stadium. One way to improve your garden during the dry dusty days of fall is to wash all the dust off the leaves. Take the garden hose and really wash everything down with a strong volume of water. This shines up the foliage while removing dead leaves, cobwebs, and some insects. It also enables the leaves to function better in their job of manufacturing food for the plant which in turn makes the whole plant look and do better.

After washing things clean it helps to water the roots that are down deep. This helps the plant prepare for winter and is easily done by letting the hose run slowly around your larger shrubs and trees. A lot of next years performance, especially of fruit trees, is determined by things you do this fall.

Now that you have clean plants it is easier to work around them. You can prune the branches that are getting out of hand, remove all the dead wood, and tie up the ones that might blow over this winter. At the same time you can plant a few bright winter flowers and bulbs around the base for color. All sorts of bulbs and small started plants are available for easy growing.

An extra special this Thursday, Friday and Saturday is cushion mums in four inch pots for thirty nine cents each. They are loaded with buds and bloom for instant color. See them now on "E" Street just north of Olive.

FRITZ PUSCH, manager of the downtown Porterville Montgomery Ward store since 1967, has been named manager of the new store that will open October 21 in the Porterville Plaza. Pusch has been with the firm since 1946.

New Montgomery Ward Store To Open October 21 In Porterville Plaza Center

PORTERVILLE — An opening date of October 21 for Montgomery Ward's new retail store in the Porterville Plaza at 825 W. Henderson was confirmed this week by Store Manager Fritz N. Pusch.

"Our display and merchandising experts have committed to that date and they tell me they'll make it even if they have to work around the clock," said Pusch.

When completed the 60,000 square foot store will provide a one-stop shopping facility for Porterville area customers, including a five-car automotive services center, an outdoor seasonal sales area, and a buffeteria.

"The new store enables us to display merchandise and offer services which have been impossible in our downtown store," said Pusch. "We will have a fully equipped automotive services center which can provide everything in the way of car service except body work, and we can offer food service for the first time in our 42-seat buffeteria."

He said the facility will also include a garden shop, expanded fashion departments, and broader assortments in every department, plus free parking for 600 cars and year around climate control in the building.

In announcing the opening date of the new store, Pusch also stated that the firm's downtown store, which opened in 1928, will be closed on October 18.

The new store will employ 100 men and women. This compares to 40 employees in the downtown store.

The Porterville store will be the fourth of five stores to be opened in Ward's western region this year. Previously opened stores include Merced, Portland and Salem, Oregon. The fifth will open in Los Angeles in November. The company is scheduled to open 22 stores nationally during 1970.

Montgomery Ward is a subsidiary of Marcor Inc., which was formed in November, 1968 when Wards combined with Container Corporation of America.

EDISON COMPANY SEEKING TOP SCIENCE STUDENT

PORTERVILLE — A search for the area's most outstanding high school science student is now being conducted by Southern California Edison company.

Dick Hatfield, Porterville district manager for the electric utility, said the top student will be selected to attend the 12th annual National Youth Conference on the Atom, Oct. 22-24, in Chicago.

Edison, as local sponsor of the event, has invited all public, private and parochial high schools in its service territory to nominate one student as a possible candidate.

"From these nominations, six students - one from each of the company's six geographic divisions - will be selected to attend the science conference," Hatfield said.

The student's high school science teacher also will be invited to attend the three-day forum.

More than 800 students and teachers from throughout the United States are expected to participate in the science seminar. They will meet with some of the nation's leading scientists and hear about the latest developments in a variety of scientific fields.

JELLINEK HEADS LIBRARIAN ASSN.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU OLIVE SECTION MAKES PRICE RECOMMENDATION

VISALIA — Crop report was heard and a recommended price that olive growers should seek were the principal items of business at a meeting of the Olive section of the Tulare County Farm Bureau, held the middle of September, in Visalia. Clyde Irion is chairman of the Olive section.

It was reported to growers that the official Olive Administrative committee estimate of tonnage for the 1970 crop year was again down from previous estimates, now 38,855 tons, statewide for all varieties, 12% lower than the July 1 estimate.

This tonnage represents 60% of the 1969 crop and only 50% of the 1968 crop, it was stated.

Growers were told that this smaller tonnage, combined with the projected carry-over, should leave less than the normal six-months carry-over going into the 1971 crop year.

A disturbing note to the growers was that the estimate of uncontracted fruit is less than 1,000 tons in the entire state on which cash purchases will be based.

Growers were concerned that this tonnage would not allow sufficient cash buying to establish a realistic grower price, Irion says.

The Farm Bureau Olive Section Recommends the following grower prices for the 1970 crop season.

SUSPENSE DRAMA, MUSICAL HIT, FARCE ARE SCHEDULED FOR COLLEGE

PORTERVILLE — A farce, a suspense drama, and two unique musical hits are scheduled for the 1970-71 drama season at Porterville college.

Rehearsals are underway for "Everybody Loves Opal," the most recent play by John Patrick. Five performances of the hilarious farce will be given on October 16-17, and October 22-24.

Second production of the college theater season will be "The Fantasticks," probably the most successful intimate musical play of all time. Written by Tom Jones and Henry Schmidt, it has been running in New York City for the past 12 years, and will have its Porterville premiere on December 4.

On March 12, the college will open performances of "The Visit," a work of contemporary dramatic writing by Friedrich Duerrenmatt, a Swiss.

The final presentation of the year will be another musical, "Little Mary Sunshine," a spoof of a bygone era by Rick Besoyan, which will run in mid-May.

Phil Simons, new head of the college's drama program, will direct "Everybody Loves Opal."

RONALD REAGAN TO VISIT VISALIA

California Governor Ronald Reagan will be on a "meet the people" tour when he appears in downtown Visalia, Friday, at 11:50 a.m. He will walk through the area, walk through the Visalia Fair, where he will also speak, then go on to Tulare to have lunch with Tulare High School students.

CAP'N JACK SAYS:

Sugar Beet Growers Harvest "Sweetest" Crop

SACRAMENTO — California sugarbeet growers are harvesting what may be the "sweetest" crop they have ever produced, according to the California Department of Agriculture.

With an all-time record production of 7,450,000 tons in prospect, 22 percent above last year, and slightly above the previous record year in 1964, things look promising for the state's sugar beet growers.

Yields are expected to reach 23.5 tons per acre, compared to 20 tons last year, sugar content is described as "from good to excellent" and there have been no serious insect or disease problems in this year's beet crop.

California is the nation's leading sugar beet producing state, with more than 300,000 acres planted in 32 of the State's counties.

Imperial is the state's leading sugar beet county with more than 70,000 acres last year. Other major producing counties are Monterey, San Joaquin, Solano, Yolo, Fresno and Tulare.

GRAPE CROP DOWN IN STATE FOR ALL VARIETIES

SACRAMENTO — The California grape crop is now forecast at 2,700,000 tons, down 25 percent from the 3,600,000 tons harvested a year ago.

Production by major types includes raisin grapes at 1,800,000 tons, off 17 percent; wine grapes 560,000 tons, off 28 percent; and table grapes 340,000 tons, off 49 percent.

The quality of early wine grape deliveries is reported good, but production in most districts will be sharply below last year due to earlier freeze damage. Table variety grape production is also expected to be cut drastically due to earlier freeze damage. Harvest of Tokays is now underway with Emperors expected to become active in early October.

California apple crop at 280,000 tons is four percent above last season.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

Last night I dreamt of Mel Price. Not of marble halls, of Mel Price and the hall at the St. John's Episcopal church. Mel and Barbara Price were married this summer and their friends got together and had an open house for the happy couple. Mel and Barbara are both in the education business so lots of teachers came to have punch and cookies and conversation. It must be fun to be married to someone who has the same surname. Now Barbara can sign her checks Barbara Price Price. This would also be economical, don't have to have new stationery printed. Anyway we wish them all kinds of good things.

Jo Coates has got to be the happiest grandmother in town. Now she can babysit to her heart's content. Daughter Barbara and her family have moved back to OUR TOWN from Mill Valley. Bob is with the Equitable Life Insurance Co. and at the moment has his office at home until Barbara gets all the boxes unpacked. Jo's two grandchildren, Sandra and David, are all enrolled at Roche Ave. School and Barbara is enrolled in P.T.A. OUR TOWN is glad to have the Squires family back home. Both Barbara and Bob went to school here and now they are buying Helen Conklin's house on Corona. I remember when they were married and Jo asked me to cut the wedding cake. I had never cut a wedding cake and had to look up the correct way to do it. I didn't realize what a tricky business cutting a cake could be. Jo had more faith in me than I did. Anyway it must have turned out all right, the little couple on the top of the cake didn't fall down till later.

Jo and Alan Coates have just returned from a trip to Canada where they visited Alan's relatives who live in Victoria and Vancouver. Now coming home to the Squires makes everything delightful. It's nice to have a daughter near enough to call and visit. Lucky grandparents.

Helen Conklin is in Rome visiting her son and taking art lessons and seeing the Eternal City. Helen is quite an artist and Rome is quite a place to be if you love art.

Bernice Hutcheson is a patient at the Hacienda. I have no idea how old she is, but she certainly thinks young. Her room is the first room you come to when entering the hospital, and she is always up to something. The other day she was wearing a wig a young relative had given her, and the whole place was enjoying it with her. The wig had some grey in it, and Bernice was a little insulted with the grey hair as her real hair doesn't have that much grey in it, but she was having fun and others were having fun with her. What a great person to meet in a place where so much unhappiness is.

Happiness is Bernice Hutcheson and her wig.

WALNUT AND PECAN CROPS HEAVY IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO — The 1970 California walnut crop is now forecast at 103,000 tons, which would equal the record crop of a year ago. Production in most major varieties is expected to compare favorably with last season with Franquettes expected to be heavier.

Harvest of California's record 130,000 ton almond crop is well underway, with good quality and sizes reported. Using recent years shelling ratios, the 1970 crop can be expected to yield 143 million pounds of meats in comparison with 1969 crop receipts of 132 million pounds.

MILK POOLING LEGISLATION AUTHORED BY GORDON DUFFY IS SIGNED INTO LAW

SACRAMENTO - The State Legislature has approved and Governor Ronald Reagan, has signed legislation by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy of Hanford to allow the State Director of Agriculture to update and simplify the state's records to improve the administration of milk pooling in the state.

Under the former law, Duffy said, the State Department of Agriculture maintained records on every producer who has a production base or pool quota whether the producer is engaged in milk production or not.

"Consequently production base and pool quotas have ended up in the hands of speculators," Duffy said, "resulting in creation of a false inflationary value caused by the speculation."

Duffy's bill, now the new law, requires that unless a producer applies before January 1, 1971 for a production base or pool quota, he will lose his eligibility.

Duffy said all segments of the dairy industry supported the bill which should resolve one of the major problems in California's milk pooling plan.

"This new law is an example of the type of legislation which is most rewarding for a legislator," Duffy stated. "It represents a consensus approach to solving a problem that has confronted milk producers in my district as well as dairymen throughout the state."

PAUL BUNYAN

Saturday and Sunday, October 10-11, at Camp Nelson.

The two-day event is being produced by the California Lumberjack association, of Pollock Pines. The program will start at 1 p.m. both days, with preliminaries on Saturday and finals on Sunday.

Events will include: Ax throwing, choker setting, working power saws, hot saws, double hand bucking, hand chopping, jack and jill, and birling. Admission will be $1.50 for adults; 50 cents for children 14 years and under.

NEWS RELEASE PREPARATION IS CLASS SUBJECT

PORTERVILLE - Working with the News Media is the title of a course to be offered in the Porterville College adult education program, beginning on Monday, October 5.

Bill Rodgers, editor and co-publisher of The Farm Tribune, will conduct the class, which will consider the best ways of preparing material for use by newspapers, radio, and other news media.

The course is designed primarily to assist persons who have public information responsibilities for clubs and organizations, but others are welcome.

The class also will meet for two-hour sessions on Thursday, October 8; Monday, October 12 and Thursday, October 15, in Room MU-1 on the college campus. Registration for the non-credit course may be made at the college community services office, or at the first meeting of the class.

Sacramento valley honeydew melons are moving in light volume.

A giant Redwood at Sequoia Crest will be dedicated to Buck Shaffer, of Porterville, in the Sequoia Crest grove, Saturday, October 17, honoring him as "a leader in the conservation of patriotism and of the nation's youth."

Shaffer's contribution has been through his work in the field of music in connection with the Porterville High School Panther band, and the Fabulous Studio band, the latter group organized by Shaffer some 16 years ago from high school and Porterville college students and continued through the years as student personnel changes.

The Fabulous Studio band has toured the United States several times in past years, and, in 1961, toured the South Pacific.

Shaffer will be the fourth person recognized in the Redwood honor grove. First was Amos Alonzo Stagg, nationally-famous football coach; second was Al Tienken, Lindsay pioneer; third was Jesse Stockton, former superintendent of schools in Kern county.

ROAD OPENING

Representatives of the Springville chamber of commerce, Kernville and Isabella area, Sequoia Forest, the County of Tulare, State of California, and others will participate in official opening of a recently improved section of road between Johnsondale and the Great Western divide.

The event is slated for Saturday, October 1, at Redwood meadow, 11 a.m., with a lunch, hosted by the Mt. Whitney Lumber company at Johnsondale to follow.

Rather than the traditional ribbon cutting, this road will be opened with a log cutting.
